Major Headings for Scsi's Other Web Sites Page

1. Keeping Things in Perspective
2. Why does Scsi make these "go elsewhere" recommendations?
3. What are some Web sites recommended by Scsi for visiting?

NOTE: Relevant hyperlinks are included within the associated paragraphs to make your browsing session productive and all the more enjoyable.

Keeping Things in Perspective

1. Continual success in life is reflected in great part by being able to readily and effectively address whatever day-to-day business or personal matters that arise -- something which can always be aided by learning how to increase our individual and collective productivity and/or knowledge transfer processes and actions.
2. No one can be an expert at everything, and each of us should continually search for new and better ways of doing things. Finding out more about products and services offered by numerous other productivity-related companies is another facet of what Scsi enjoys sharing with anyone who visits the Scsi P&KT Web site.
3. Once you have finished browsing through the productivity page's hyperlinks, as well as any other included hyperlinks that you'll encounter within the Scsi P&KT Web site, you are heartily encouraged to expand your vistas and garner additional insights from other professionals in their respective fields.
4. Choose from among the hyperlinks provided on this Web page to begin this process. Scsi's general recommendation is that you set aside some time to visit each of the Web sites cited here for noteworthy productivity-related resources.

Why does Scsi make these "go elsewhere" recommendations?

This suggestion is made for two reasons in particular:

1. The content presented will be centered around a particular area of expertise
2. More specific or up-to-date information will almost always be found at primary sources.

What are some Web sites recommended by Scsi for visiting?

Go visit additional Web sites, such as those associated with the categories listed below.

1. Business Transactions, Business Intelligence Analytical Tools, and Cross Platform Development Tools
2. Consulting and Entrepreneurship
3. Graphics and Web Site Design and Related Services
4. Ideation, Creative Thinking, and Problem Solving
5. Intellectual Property
6. Systems Design, Software Development, and Training
7. Web Compendia and Newsletters
8. Web Site Marketing-related Services
9. Web Site Testing Tools and Certification Services

Business Transactions, Business Intelligence Analytical Tools, and Cross Platform Development Tools

IBM describes Cognos software, services, best practices and support. On the Web page, you'll read: "More than 23,000 leading companies and organizations around the world choose Cognos performance management solutions. Use business intelligence software to understand performance and make better decisions. Use financial performance management software to set targets and allocate the resources to achieve them."

SAS provides on their "Products & Solutions" Web page basic descriptions of and useful hyperlinks to SAS products and solutions:

1. Industries
2. Solution Lines
3. Data Integration
4. Business Intelligence
5. Analytics
6. Enterprise Intelligence Platform
7. Government and Education
8. Product Index A-Z

Scarce Ideas, LLC Web Site: Does your company have one or more business requirements that involve solving complex data-mining problems? Moreover, do you need to find that "needle-in-the-haystack" professional organization that possesses not only the requisite knowledge to formulate solutions tailored to your needs but also makes use of its own unique set of analytical tools that will solve such problems in a timely and cost-effective fashion?

If so, look no further. Scsi can unequivocally state that you need to contact Scarce Ideas™ for further discussions and specifics. Here is why:

1. Scarce Ideas™ information and technology consulting and advisory service offers proprietary computer consulting services in the area of data analysis and pattern recognition.
2. Scarce Ideas™ technology employs a proprietary paradigm that does not require mathematical assumptions -- Client data self-organizes and discovers all hidden and obvious categories.

Consulting and Entrepreneurship

1. The MindShareConsulting Web site has evolved over the years and has the following goal according to Michael McLaughlin, consultant, who operates the business: "My goal, and the purpose of my business, is to offer resources and services to help firm leaders manage these priorities, build thriving businesses, and still have a life." As some background behind this company and where some of its roots came from, you should note that it was the well-known team of Jay C. Levinson and Michael McLaughlin who published the book "Proven Guerrilla Marketing tactics specifically designed for consultants" that are built upon throughout this Web site. If you are truly serious about becoming a successful consultant by marketing yourself effectively in this highly competitive field, Scsi recommends that you immediately buy, read, and conscientiously apply the marketing principles detailed in their excellent book entitled, Guerilla Marketing for Consultants. Once those steps are addressed and underway, you must also remember to continuously review your various marketing activities with what is presented throughout the various chapters of this book -- just to be sure that you stay on track toward achieving your specific goals over time.
2. Julie Jansen for motivational speaking, career coaching, and management consulting services
3. Rhonda Abrams states on her Web site: "At The Planning Shop, we are business planning specialists. Our flagship product is the top-selling business plan book, The Successful Business Plan: Secrets & Strategies by Rhonda Abrams." Scsi recommends that you visit this Web site often, pore over its contents, order one or more of its books on business planning, and spend some time examining the archived Business Planning columns -- even if you think you've got all the answers. If you do this, you will definitely come away picking up more than just a few pointers here and there. This Web site is a gold mine of information.
4. Visit One Step Further "Your Future Your Choice" Web site to learn more about Beverley Hamilton's six-step strategy for anyone interested in or already involved with the Independent Business Consulting (IBC) profession. Scsi recommends that you also look over the numerous archived issues accessible via a hyperlink in the Useful Stuff section of the Web site.
5. Scarce Ideas provides information and technology consulting services with its primary focus in the areas of data analysis and pattern recognition.

6. Visit springwise.com for "new business ideas for entrepreneurial minds" to (as the site states) "scan the globe for smart new business ideas, delivering instant inspiration to entrepreneurial minds from San Francisco to Singapore."
7. Visit Alan Weiss's Alan Weiss Web site for consulting-related articles, newsletters, and books
8. Visit The David Allen Company "A Smarter Way to Work & Live" Web site to learn all about the Getting Things Done (GTD) RoadMap that David Allen has created to help others work more effectively and efficiently.
9. Edward de Bono's and Robert Heller's LeadershipReview Web site offers valuable management- and critical thinking-related insights and tips, a free newsletter subscription, and additional management guidelines and assistance that is made available on a yearly subscription basis.
10. Brad Malone's Twin Star Consulting helps companies realize their corporate visions through a combination of training and development services, coaching and mentoring services, and corporate transformation consulting.

Their slogan is "The Language of Business is the Language of the Customer!" Have a look-see for yourself as to their offered services, clients, and freebies.
5. graphicPUSH is written, designed and maintained by Kevin Potts, who states on his Web site, "graphicPush was created as a resource for print and web designers, and contains articles relating to both fields, as well as business-centric articles for freelancers and business owners."
6. Scsi suggests that you visit Ken Webster's Mountain Eagle Marketing (MEM) Web site to learn more about what Ken states in his opening paragraph: "Premium Custom Website Design, Search Engine Optimization, Website Maintenance and Promotion are the 4 most important ingredients for creating an effective and valuable Internet presence. Good website design includes many key Search Engine friendly features built into the design from the beginning."
7. Shorewalker is a Web management site that Scsi recommends you visit for insightful commentaries about Web content management, including many in-depth articles that provide historical perspectives that are not easily found collected into a series of archives that nonetheless remain pertinent in today's times.
8. Joseph (Joe) R. B. Taylor's Sites by Joe Web site contains the following statements, "The web is confusing enough already. Sites by Joe develops thoughtful websites that deliver information quickly and easily while providing a pleasant web experience to all visitors."

9. XPLANE is a Business Design Consultancy that develops visual maps and stories to make complex business issues easier to understand. Since 1993, XPLANE has helped hundreds of companies – from middle market to global giant – reduce complexity and increase the clarity and effectiveness of their communications. XPLANE leverages visual thinking, human-centered design, co-creation, and multi-disciplinary teams to help clients solve complex problems and accelerate immediate and lasting results. Visit their Web site to see some excellent examples of the power of graphic representation. Scsi feels that they are quite impressive and worth the look.

Ideation, Creative Thinking, and Problem Solving

1. I. Lee's "A Research Guide for Students" Web Site is a free, no frills education Web site that has a stated goal of providing all the necessary tools for students to conduct research and to present their findings. Scsi recommends and encourages anyone who does engage in any form of writing to visit, browse through, and spend some time on this excellent Web site with its in-depth coverage and instructions for honing any individual's research and writing skills.
2. Ideation International's Web Site states on its Web site's pages the following: "Ideation International is a private, U.S.-based company founded in 1992 and headquartered in Southfield, Michigan. The company focuses on the Theory of Inventive Problem Solving, also referred to by its Russian acronym TRIZ.... The Ideation/TRIZ methodology (I-TRIZ) is based on 1) TRIZ in its "classical" form (TRIZ is the Russian acronym for the abbreviation that, translated literally, means Theory of the Solution of Inventive Problems); and 2) Advancements to TRIZ based on the practical experience of TRIZ practitioners... and ... reinvestment devoted to continuous research and U.S. adaptation of the methodology by Ideation's TRIZ scientists." Scsi suggests that you visit their Web site to learn more about how TRIZ and I-TRIZ can help you, your company, and others work to solve problems more productively.
3. Chuck Frey's innovationmanagement.se Web Site -- designed to help busy executives to be more innovative in their businesses

Web Site Marketing-related Services

Listed below (in alphabetical-by-Web-site-name order) are just a few companies that offer various kinds of marketing expertise, oftentimes related to Web sites.

1. Bruce Clay's Web site at Bruceclay.com states (in part) that it offers "Information, tips, and helpful hints for people performing internet marketing: Search Engine Optimization (SEO), Search Engine Marketing (PPC), running an analytics project, interested in e-Mail as an advertising medium, and interested in traffic through and branding activities.... Internet marketing is hard, technical, detailed work, but we offer everything you need to succeed." Scsi recommends that you visit Bruce Clay's Web site to check it out for yourself.

2. Larrychase.com offers marketing, consulting, and speaking services, along with an always well-written and informative newsletter from his Web Digest For Marketers Web site. Scsi recommends you frequently visit Larry's Web sites and access his numerous marketing-related articles and books, as you are certain to find a goldmine of useful information every time you do.

3. Visit marketingsherpa.com if you want to access or subscribe to marketing-related articles [all written exclusively "in-house", by the way], reports, and timely marketing-related information. As their Web site states, "MarketingSherpa, Inc. is a media company publishing useful Case Studies, results data, and best practices for marketing, advertising, and public relations professionals. We also run SherpaStore, an online bookstore featuring "best of" benchmark guides, buyer's guides, event tickets, and instructional manuals for marketers." Scsi has found this Web site to be one that is worth revisiting often.

4. Mikemoran.com and Global Strategies International are the respective Web sites of Mike Moran and Bill Hunt, co-authors of the book, Search Engine Marketing, Inc.: Driving Search Traffic to Your Company's Web Site. ISBN: 0-13-185292-2, IBM Press. -- a no-nonsense book about developing and implementing a search marketing program in your business.

5. As stated on their highly informative Web site, "Prophet is the go-to firm for senior executives demanding brand, marketing, and innovation investments that work harder -- and smarter." Scsi knows that you will profit from making that on-line visit often.

6. Webcopyplus states, "We maintain strategic partnerships with branding, information technology and online marketing experts to ensure you benefit from leading edge webcopy techniques." Scsi especially recommends that you visit the Webcopyplus collection of articles Web page that provides an index of hyperlinks to many informative articles related to the Web, its content, and the continuing evolution of the digitally written word.

7. Web Marketing Today's mission of Web Marketing Today is to publish down-to-earth articles, tutorials, webinars, and podcasts to help smaller, local businesses succeed online.

Web Site Testing Tools and Certification Services

Gibson Research

1. Provides numerous software and hardware utility testing programs, such as SpinRite, ShieldsUp!, and LeakTest, among others
2. Discusses technical details at length and explains things most clearly

PowerMapper

1. "SortSite is a one-click web site testing tool used by federal agencies, Fortune 100 corporations and independent consultancies. The tool is available as a subscription web application and a Windows desktop application. One click is all it takes to analyze an entire web site. Each page is checked against 450+ standards-based checkpoints."
2. "PowerMapper is an automatic site map creation tool for information architects, usability analysts and web developers. It is used in more than 50 countries, by 30% of the Fortune 100, and major organizations like NASA and MIT. One Click Site Mapping: Creating a map is simple. Just navigate to your site using the built-in web browser, then click New."

NOTE: Scsi has made use of both products and recommends that you check out the Web site's On-line Trials and Desktop downloads to convince yourself that these tools really do the job quickly, easily, and effectively. Both products are simply amazing to see in action ... and in their quantitative results! -- Scsi

TotalValidator

1. On Andy Halford's Total Validator Web site is the statement, "Total Validator is a free one-stop validator or all-in-one validator comprising a HTML validator, an accessibility validator, a spelling validator, a broken links validator, and the ability to take screenshots with different browsers to see what your web pages really look like."
2. Scsi encourages you to examine Total Validator as a tool for quickly assessing individual Web pages.
3. Be sure to visit the Total Validator Web site for further information and latest updates available. Donations to support further development are encouraged.

Lionbridge's Testing Services

1. Provides outsourced software and hardware testing services for quality assurance, load, and usability
2. Offers access to an archive of highly informative reports and references

Websiteoptimization.com

1. Websiteoptimization.com's Web Page Analyzer is a free one-page-at-a-time testing service that does what is stated by the author on that particular Web page: "Test your web site speed with our free web-based analyzer. Enter a URL below to calculate page size, composition, and page download time. The script calculates the size of individual elements and finds the total for each type of web page component. Based on these page characteristics the script then offers advice on how to improve page display time and website speed." The latest version offers color-coded results to really grab your attention as to "How am I doing?" regarding the quality of your Web page, at least speedwise.

2. If you or someone in your company has an interest in finding out about licensing the Web Page Analyzer tool, Scsi recommends that you visit the Licensing the Web Page Analyzer Web page for specific details about licensing matters and availability of other optimization-related services that might be applicable to your particular situation.

3. What's the bottom line here? Scsi suggests that you commit a few moments of your time to give Websiteoptimization.com's "Web Page Analyzer" Web-based tool a hands-on tryout. You will undoubtedly become convince that this tool definitely fills an obvious void in quantitatively assessing a Web page's overall composition, doing so both quickly and easily, and providing a number of useful quantitative assessments, along with a summary of suggested guidelines for what improvements can and should be made as applicable.
